Saboteur Hunt

OAKLAND, Calif.—The FBI announced that a Nation-wide search is on for four young persons who are believed to be part of a sabotage conspiracy responsible for 30 bombings in the San Francisco Bay area.

The announcement came shortly after a fifth suspect was charged with recent bombings at the University of California and the Oakland courthouse.

Charged was Daniel C. Girkins, 23, a soldier who escaped from the Ft. Ord stockade while awaiting court-martial on desertion charges.

Charles Bates, special agent in charge of the FBI's San Francisco office, said there was a strong possibility that the five suspects were part of a Nation-wide conspiracy involved in sabotage and other disruptive activities.
